RECOVERY HOME: A NEW WAY OF LIFE

During their stay at an inpatient treatment facility, individuals have 24-hour supervision and rigid structure. Each day is planned out and filled with recovery-related programming. When an individual returns directly from this structured treatment environment back into freedom in an environment where they were using, many may be tempted to turn back to mind-altering substances or may be triggered by certain places, people, or situations.

Recovery homes provide a safe transitional living environment for individuals moving back to their original community.

ADMISSIONS AND INTAKE

In order to be considered for acceptance into the recovery home, prospective residents must complete and submit an application with a copy of a recent physical, TB test, substance use disorder evaluation, and complete an interview.

When entering the recovery home, residents receive a Resident Handbook and work with our interdisciplinary team to create their Treatment Plan. It will be the resident's responsibility to read the handbook and begin to work on the assignments and goals agreed upon in their treatment plan.

Each resident will work with our Residence Manager and dually Licensed Addictions/Mental Health Counselor to develop and adhere to an appropriate treatment plan. Everyone is required to attend weekly groups and individual sessions.

Butte SPIRIT has been established to serve Butte's community members first, non-resident applicants will be considered.

LIVING SOBER

Along with treatment requirements, residents will also be required to obtain employment within 4 weeks of admission into the house. If a resident is not employed they are expected to be actively searching for work, involved in school or some type of training, or doing some type of volunteer work in the community.

Curfew begins immediately at 9:00pm daily and is dependent on each resident's phase in the program.

Cost of participation is $550/month*

We provide all basic necessities: utilities, bedding, kitchen, toiletries and only for the first month, a meal plan.

Average stay is 3-6 months

*financial assistance available, see webpage for info

The Butte SPIRIT Home will provide a sense of structure for residents by having mandatory recovery activities, house meals and meetings, chore schedules, and curfews. In addition to these essential elements of sober living, we will provide life skills classes, connections to education, job training, and work placement, as well as connecting residents to affordable housing once they are ready to leave our group home.
